ORGANIC REACTION

Painters, Melanie Ellery and Kimberly Blackstock have come together to present "Organic Reaction", a two person art exhibit. Although outcome is different, the artists align through confident use of colour and boldness. Melanie and Kimberly also share a similar work process in that they rely heavily on spontaneity, intuition and their engagement with the materials. Who can say what internal compass dictates shapes, brushstrokes, and colour palette? Whatever the source, Melanie and Kimberly lean into this intuitiveness, this "Organic Reaction" to their art and here, they share the results.
